

Bengal

The Bengal should be alert, friendly and affectionate with a dependable temperament. The luxurious coat is a distinct feature of the breed. The overall look of the head should be as distinctly different from the domestic cat as possible. Bengals take at least two years to mature.

HEAD	A broad medium wedge, with rounded contours; longer than it is wide, with high cheekbones. Rather small in proportion to the body, but not taken to extremes. The curve of the forehead should flow into the bridge of the nose with no break. The line of the bridge extends to the nose tip, making a very slight to nearly straight concave curve. The nose is large and broad. The muzzle should be full and broad with a strong chin and large, pronounced whisker pads.
EARS	Medium to small in size; the smaller ear preferred; wide at base with rounded tips; set as much on the side as on the top of the head. The ears follow the contour of the face in the front view and tilt forward in profile. Inner ear may be slightly tufted.
EYES	Oval, almost round, large but not bold. Set wide apart and with a slight slant towards the base of the ear.
NECK	Long, substantial, muscular and in proportion to head and body.
BODY	Medium to large in size. Long and substantial. Neither oriental nor foreign. Very muscular in mature males. Allowances to be made for females being less muscular and smaller.
LEGS	Medium length, strong and muscular. Hind legs are a little longer than the front legs.
PAWS	Rounded.
TAIL	Medium length, thick with a rounded tip.
COAT	Short to medium in length; very dense, luxurious and unusually soft to the touch. Coat may be glittered or not glittered with neither type to be given preference.

Bengal Patterns

Leopard Spotted Pattern (Pattern Code: Ts)

- Head: Head barred with an "M" on forehead. Dark pencilling to run from outside corners of the eyes. Light spectacles around eyes. At least one other unbroken line on cheeks. Lines on head to run on either side of scarab and down back of neck to break into spots on shoulders.
- Body: Spots shall be random or aligned horizontally. Rosettes showing two distinct colours or shades, such as paw print shaped, arrowhead shaped, donut or half donut shaped or clustered are preferred to single spotting, but not required. Contrast between pattern and ground colour must be clear. Blotchy, horizontal shoulder streaks, spotted legs and spotted or rosetted tail are desirable. Strong bold chinstrap desirable. Contrast between pattern and ground colour must be extreme, giving distinct pattern and sharp edges. Virtually white undersides and belly desirable. Belly must be spotted.
- Legs: May be barred and/or spotted. Darker gauntlets on hind feet.
- Tail: Ringed, streaked and / or spotted, ending in a dark tip.
- Undesirable: Vertical Stripes
