

Somali

The Somali is a colourful cat with a distinctly ticked coat, medium in size, well balanced and giving the impression of standing on tiptoe. It is lithe, hard and muscular, showing eager activity and a lively interest in all surroundings.

HEAD: A modified, slightly rounded wedge without flat planes. Gently rounded brow and slight nose break essential. A shallow indentation forming the muzzle is desirable. Firm chin. EARS: Set wide apart and pricked, broad at base, medium to large in size and well cupped. Lynx-like tufts desirable but not essential. EYES: Set well apart, almond shaped, large, brilliant and expressive. NECK: Elegantly arched. BODY: Medium in length, lithe, and graceful, showing well developed muscular strength without coarseness. Conformation strikes a balance between cobby and svelte. LEGS: Proportionately slim and fine-boned. PAWS: Small and oval. Giving the impression of being on tiptoe when standing. TAIL: Thick at base, proportionately long and tapering to a blunt tip. COAT: Texture very soft, extremely fine, dense and double-coated, with at least three bands of ticking. Medium in length, except over shoulders, where shorter length is permitted. Ruff and trousers desirable. EYE COLOUR: Yellow, orange, hazel or green PATTERN: Eyes accentuated by dark rims, encircled by light coloured fur. Treble ticked preferred. A dark spine, or necklace (which must be broken) will not militate against an otherwise good specimen. Pads set in dark fur, which extends up the back of the hind legs. Tail ends in a solid tip of colour. White or off-white permitted on upper throat, lips and nostrils only. The Somali is extremely slow in showing mature ticking, and allowances should be made for kittens. Ticking is not so apparent in a medium length coat, compared with ticking in a short coat.	SOMALI COAT COLOURS Ruddy Overall impression of a rich, ruddy brown, ticked with black or dark brown.
